DOCOMO's Finance and Payment Platform Business in Europe

In Europe, DOCOMO's group companies have been providing mobile operators and content/service providers with payment platforms that enable fees for digital content used by subscribers to be added conveniently to their phone bills. Concurrently, the companies also have been expanding their finance and payment business by leveraging their banking and credit-card business licenses.

Through its investment in fine trade, DOCOMO will now expand its payment platform portfolio in Europe to include the online retail market for consumer goods, where fine trade operates its own payment platform business.
